Chapter. Acts j. (i.)

The former treatise I made, O Theophilus, of all things which Jesus began to do and to teach, until the day on which, giving commandments by the Holy Ghost to the apostles whom he had chosen, he was taken up.

ET not your heart * be trou-bled, I go to the Father: and when I am taken up from you, I will send you, alleluia. †The Spirit of truth, and your heart shall rejoice. ‡Alleluia. I will ask the Father, and he shall give you another Paraclete. †The Spirit. V. Glory be to the Father and to the Son: and to the Holy Ghost. ‡Alleluia.

And let this preceding R. be sung by three distinguished persons in silken Copes at the Quire Step: and likewise at Second Vespers on this Feast.
On the Ascension of the Lord.

Hymn. VIII. 8255.

- ter-nal Mo-narch, Lord supreme, * Who us thy people to re-deem, Didst vanquish hell, and death defeat ; The tri- umph of thy grace complete. 2. Thou, mounting to thy Father's throne, Hast there, at his right hand sate down : Je-su, to whom all power in heaven, By thee on earth put off, is given. 3. There all cre-a-tion, threefold birth, Of things ce-lestial, things on earth, And things be-neath, thy word obey, And bow be-neath thy sovereign saw. 4. E'en gazing angels as they hear, Of man's estate exalted, fear; Flesh sinneth, flesh blots out the stain;

And God, in flesh, a God doth reign. 5. Be thou our joy and thou our guard, Who art to be our great reward:

Our glory and our boast in thee For ev-er and for ev-er be. 6. All glory, Lord, to thee we pay, Ascend-ing o'er the stars to-day; All glory, as is ev-er meet, To

Father and to Pa-raclete. Amen.

These two last \(\text{VV}\). are sung at the end of all Hymns of the same metre until Pentecost: except in the Hymn That which the Prophet-King, namely at First Vespers on the Invention of the Holy Cross when it be celebrated within the Octave of the Ascension: and

At that time. He appeared unto the eleven as they were at table: and upbraided them with their incredulity and hardness of heart, because they did not believe them who had seen him after he was risen again. And that which followeth.

A Homily of Blessed Gregory, Pope. (29.)

That the disciples were slowly to believe in the Lord’s resurrection: happened not so much from their infirmity, as (if I may speak thus) to strengthen us in the future. Indeed his resurrection: has been shewn through their doubts by many proofs. What do we recognize in reading: what else than that we are strengthened by their doubt? For Mary Magdalene, who believed quickly, hath been less help to me: than Thomas who remained long in doubt. Indeed while doubting, he touched the scars of the wounds: and cut out of our breast the wound our doubt. It is likewise written to indicate the truth of the Lord’s resurrection to us: when Luke reporteth, saying, Eating together with them, he commanded them, that they should not depart from Jerusalem. And after a little, While they looked on, he was raised up: and a cloud received him out of their sight. Note the words: mark the mysteries. While he was eating with them he was raised up. He ate and he ascended: that clearly by the effect of eating the reality of <his> body might be revealed. But.

Post passionem suam. AS:268; 1519:249r; 1531:146r.
†And while they looked on, he was raised up, al-le-lu-ya, and a cloud received him out of their sight, al-le-lu-ya. V. And eating together with them, he commanded them that they should not depart from Je-ru-sa-lém : but should wait for the promise of the Father. †And while they.

Lesson ij

To be sure Mark recalleth that before the Lord ascended into heaven : he rebuked the disciples of their hardness of heart and <their> infidelity. What of this, what else is to be considered, except that the Lord rebuked the disciples at that time when he left them bodily, that the words which he had said when departing, would remain more firmly impressed in the heart of <his> hearers? Their hardness therefore having been rebuked : let us hear what he said admonishing <them>. Go into the whole world, and preach the gospel to every creature. Was it, most beloved brethren, so that the holy Gospel would be preached either to insensate things or to brute animals, that of the same the disciples were told, Preach to every creature? In truth by the name every creature, is signified man. To be sure stones have being: but they live not, neither do they feel. Plants and trees indeed live: but they do not feel. They live I say not by <having a> soul: but by their greenness. For also Paul saith, Senseless man, that which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die first. It liveth, then, since it die: that it may be made alive.

Omnis pulchritudo Domini. AS:268; 1519:250r; 1531:146r.16

2. Resp. II.

\[146v.\]

The beauty *of the Lord is ex-al-ted above the stars: his loveli-ness is in the clouds of hea-ven. †And his Name endur- eth for ev-er, al-le- lu- ya. \(V\). His go- ing forth is from the end of hea-ven: and his circuit e-ven to the end there- of. †And his Name.

Lesson iij.

And so stones exist: but they live not. Now trees exist: they live, but they feel not. To be sure brute animals exist: they feel, but they discern not. Certainly angels exist: they live, they feel, and they discern. Now with every creature: man hath something <in common>. Inasmuch as he hath to exist with stones, to live with trees, to feel with animals, to understand with angels. If man, therefore, hath something in common with every creature: likewise in some sense, man is every creature. Therefore the Gospel is preached to all creatures: when it is preached only to man. For evidently those are taught, are they for whose sake all things on earth were created: and to whom all things by some similitude are not foreign. To be sure the appellation every creature: may be to indicate every nation of the Gentiles. Previously indeed it was said, Go ye not into the way of the Gentiles. But now is said, Preach to every creature. So that evidently the preaching of the apostles having first been rejected by Juda, it would then come to us for <our> assistance: when this one in its pride had spurned <their> testimony to its own damnation. But when Truth sent the disciples to preach, what else did he do in the world, except he strew grain of seed: and he sent a few grains of seed, that the produce of many harvests might be reaped from our faith? And indeed no such harvest of faithful would have arisen in the whole world: if those chosen grains had not come from the Lord's hand, preaching upon an earth endowed with reason.

The former treatise I made, O Theophilus, of all things which Jesus began to do and to teach, until the day on which, giving commandments by the Holy Ghost to the apostles whom he had chosen, he was taken up. To whom also he shewed himself alive after his passion, by many proofs, for forty days appearing to them, and speaking of the kingdom of God. And eating together with them, he commanded them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but should wait for the promise of the Father, which you have heard (saith he) by my mouth. For John indeed baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost, not many days hence. But thou, O Lord.

Second Lesson. (Acts 6.)

Hey therefore who were come together, asked him, saying: Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel? But he said to them: It is not for you to know the times or moments, which the Father hath put in his own power: but you shall receive the power of the Holy Ghost coming upon you, and you shall be witnesses unto me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and Samaria, and even to the uttermost part of the earth. And when he had said these things, while they looked on, he was raised up: and a cloud received him out of their sight. But thou.
And while they were beholding him going up to heaven, behold two men stood by them in white garments. Who also said: Ye men of Galilee, why stand you looking up to heaven? This Jesus, who is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come, as you have seen him going into heaven. Then returned they to Jerusalem from the mount that is called Olivet, which is nigh Jerusalem, within a sabbath day's journey. And when they were come in, they went up into an upper room, where abode Peter, and John, James and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Jude the brother of James. All these were persevering with one mind in prayer with the women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brethren.

[On this day before Mass let the Paschal Candle be put away.]^{37}

\(^{38}\)If any Feast without Rulers of the Choir should occur within the Octave, let nothing be made of the Feast except only a Memorial at Vespers and at Matins and at the Mass of the day. But if a Feast with Rulers of the Choir should fall with the Octave of the Ascension of the Lord: let all be made of the service of the Feast, with a Memorial of the Ascension of the Lord [and of the Sunday]\(^{39}\) at both Vespers, and at Matins, and at Mass: and also on the Sunday, ad then nothing will be made of the Sunday except a Memorial only, which will precede the Memorial of the Ascension of the Lord: except on the Octave Day, then indeed all the service will be of the Octave and let the Feast be deferred until the morrow: unless on the morrow should follow any Feast with Rulers of the Choir: then indeed let the first Feast not be deferred: but let it be that year completely omitted: except only if it be a Double Feast, then indeed all will be made of the service of the Feast: and of the Octave will be made only a solemn Memorial at both Vespers and at Matins and at Mass: unless it will be the Feast of the Place or the Dedication of the Church. If a Feast with Rulers of the Choir should fall on the following Sunday, let all be made of the service of the Feast as above, with a Memorial of the Sunday and of the Ascension with a Mass of the Sunday in Chapter.

When however a service is made of any Saint within the Octave outside of Sunday: notwithstanding let the order of Antiphons and Responsories of Friday and Saturday and the following ferias be preserved. In such a way that on Monday are sung the Antiphons and Responsories of Friday if it be vacant, otherwise on the next vacant feria next in order. If any service be made of the Invention of the Holy Cross or of any Saint on the preceding Friday, let the Antiphons, Lessons and Responsories of the same Friday be sung on this Saturday when that is free of a Feast with Rulers of the Choir, except for the Antiphon on the Ps. Lesson j. Acts ii. (1.)

Hen the days of Pentecost were accomplished, they were all together in one place. And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a mighty wind coming, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting. And there appeared to them parted tongues as it were of fire, and it sat upon every one of them. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and they began to speak with divers tongues, according as the Holy Ghost gave them to speak. Now there were dwelling at Jerusalem, Jews, devout men, out of every nation under heaven. And when this was noised abroad, the multitude came together, and were confounded in mind, because that every man heard them speak in his own tongue. But thou.

Second Lesson. (Acts iij. 7.)

And they were all amazed, and wondered, saying: Behold, are not all these, that speak, Galileans? And how have we heard, every man our own tongue wherein we were born? Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and inhabitants of Mesopotamia, Judea, and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia, Phrygia, and Pamphylia, Egypt, and the parts of Libya about Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, Jews also, and proselytes, Cretes and Arabs: we have heard them speak in our tongues the wonderful works of God. And they were all astonished, and wondered, saying one to another: What meaneth this? But others mocking said: These men are full of new wine. But thou, O Lord.

Third Lesson. (Acts i.14.)

Ut Peter standing up with the eleven, lifted up his voice, and spoke to them: Ye men of Judea, and all you that dwell in Jerusalem, be this known to you, and with your ears receive my words. For these are not drunk, as you suppose, seeing it is but the third hour of the day: but this is that which was spoken of by the prophet Joel: And it shall come to pass, in the last days, (saith the Lord,) I will pour out of my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams. And upon my servants indeed, and upon my handmaids will I pour out in those days of my spirit, and they shall prophesy. And I will shew wonders in the heaven above, and signs on the earth beneath: blood and fire, and vapour of smoke. The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and manifest day of the Lord come. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord, shall be saved. But thou, O Lord.

The Gospel according to John xv. Chap. (26. - xvi. 4.) [Lesson j.]

At that time. Jesus said unto his disciples, When the Paraclete cometh, whom I will send you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, who proceedeth from the Father, he shall give testimony of me. And that which followeth.

Homily of the Venerable Bede, Priest.
(10. secundi libri.)

It shall first be noted that the Lord testifieth that Spirit of truth is to be sent by him: and then addeth that the same is to proceed from the Father. Not because the same Spirit proceeceth differently from the Father than when he is sent by the Son: or that he proceedeth from the Father at another time than when he is sent by the Son. But for this reason the Son saith that he is to be sent by him and to proceed from the Father that being different from the Father, his person is to be designated differently: also in this same distinction of persons, he proclaimeth his operation and will to be one with the will and operation of the Father. For when the grace of the same Spirit is given to men: certainly the Spirit is sent by the Father, and he is sent by the Son. He proceedeth from the Father, and he proceedeth from the Son. Because his sending is also the same procession: by which he proceedeth from the Father and the Son. He cometh also of his own will: because just as he is coequal with the Father and the Son: so he has the same will in common with the Father and the Son. For the Spirit breatheth where he will. And as the Apostle having enumerated the heavenly gifts saith, But all these things one and the same Spirit worketh, dividing to every one according as he will. But thou.

Lesson iij.

Ow the coming of the Spirit gave testimony concerning the Lord : because breathing into the hearts of the disciples, he revealed to them by his bright light all that mortals were to know concerning <the Lord>. Evidently that he was equal and consubstantial with the Father before the ages : that he was made consubstantial with us at the end of the ages. That he was born of a virgin, that he lived in the world without sin : that when he willed and by the death he willed he went forth from the world. That by rising <from the dead> he truly destroyed death. That the true flesh in which he suffered and arose again, he raised up, ascending into heaven, and established at the right hand of the glory of the Father. That all the writings of the prophets bear testimony to him: that the confession of his name was to be extended unto the ends of the earth. And that the rest of the mysteries of his faith, were opened for the disciples by the testimony of the Holy Spirit. Nor is whatever they rightly understand conceded to them alone: but also to all which through the gift of the same Spirit believe in the Lord through their word, But thou.

E, therefore (he saith), shall give testimony of me, and you shall give testimony. And seeing that they learned by the Spirit teaching inwardly: this former fear being cast aside, they ministered to others by speaking abroad. Inasmuch as the Spirit himself both illumined their hearts with knowledge of the truth: and roused them to teach what they knew by the preeminence of his power. Hence rightly in Isaiah: the same Spirit is called of fortitude and understanding. He is indeed the Spirit of understanding: because it is by him that we rightly acknowledge what we must do and also think. He is of fortitude: because it is also by him that we undertake to carry out what we well know we should do: lest we driven back by some adversity from the good things that we have begun. And you, he saith, shall give testimony, because you are with me from the beginning. Likewise when the grace of the Spirit was given, this supported the confidence of the disciples: which were with the Lord from the beginning. And therefore what they had seen and heard in his presence they prevailed to preach without any ambiguity.

At Matins.

Invitatory, Hymn, Antiphons, Psalms, VV. and Responsories as on the preceding Friday. 1594. granted that a service shall have been made of the feast of any saint whatsoever on the preceding Saturday.

First Lesson. Acts iij. (22.)

Hile Peter was standing in the midst of the people he said, Ye men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you, by miracles, and wonders, and signs, which God did by him, in the midst of you, as you also know: this same being delivered up, by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, you by then hands of wicked men have crucified and slain. Whom God hath raised up, having loosed the sorrows of hell, as it impossible that he should be holden by it. For David saith concerning him: I foresaw the Lord before my face: because he is at my right hand, that I may not be moved. For this my heart hath been glad, and my tongue hath rejoiced: moreover my flesh also shall rest in hope. Because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, nor suffer thy Holy One to see corruption. Thou hast made known to me the ways of life: thou shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance. But thou.

Second Lesson. (Acts iij. 29.)

Ye men, brethren, let me freely speak to you of the patriarch David; that he died, and was buried; and his sepulchre is with us to this present day. Whereas therefore he was a prophet, and knew that God hath sworn to him with an oath, that of the fruit of his loins one should sit upon his throne. Foreseeing this, he spoke of the resurrection of Christ. For neither was he left in hell, neither did his flesh see corruption. This Jesus hath God raised again, whereof all we are witnesses. Being exalted therefore by the right hand of God, and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath poured forth this which you see and hear. For David ascended not into heaven; but he himself said: The Lord said to my Lord, sit thou on my right hand, until I make thy enemies thy footstool. Therefore let all the house of Israel know most certainly, that God hath made both Lord and Christ, this same Jesus, whom you have crucified. But thou, O Lord.

Third Lesson. (Acts ii. 37.)

Ow when they had heard these things, they had compunction in their heart, and said to Peter, and to the rest of the apostles: what shall we do, men and brethren? But Peter said to them, Do penance, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of your sins: and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. For the promise is to you, and to your children, and to all that are far off, whomsoever the Lord our God shall call. And with very many other words did he testify and exhort them, saying: Save yourselves from this perverse generation. They therefore that received his word, were baptized; and there were added in that day about three thousand souls. And they were persevering in the doctrine of the apostles, and in the communication of the breaking of bread, and in prayers. And fear came upon every soul: many wonders also and signs were done by the apostles in Jerusalem, and there was great fear in all.

At Matins.

Invitatory, Hymn, Antiphons, Psalms, VV. and Responsories as on the preceding Saturday. 1601.

First Lesson. Acts ii. (1.)

Eter and John went up into the temple at the ninth hour of prayer. And a certain man who was lame from his mother's womb, was carried: whom they laid every day at the gate of the temple, which is called Beautiful, that he might ask alms of them that went into the temple. He, when he had seen Peter and John about to go into the temple, asked to receive an alms. But Peter with John fastening his eyes upon him, said: Look upon us. [150r.] But he looked earnestly upon them, hoping that he should receive something of them. But Peter said: Silver and gold I have none; but what I have, I give thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, arise, and walk. But thou.

Lesson ii. (Acts ii. 7.)

And taking him by the right hand, he lifted him up, and forthwith his feet and soles received strength. And he leaping up, stood, and walked, and went in with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God. And all the people saw him walking and praising God.
And they knew him, that it was he who sat begging alms at the Beautiful gate of the temple: and they were filled with wonder and amazement at that which had happened to him. And as held Peter and John, all the people ran to them to the porch which is called Solomon's, greatly wondering. But Peter seeing, made answer to the people, Ye men of Israel, why wonder you at this? or why look you upon us, as if by our strength or power we had made this man to walk?

Third Lesson. (Acts iii. 13.)

The God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, the God of our fathers, hath glorified his Son Jesus, whom you indeed delivered up and denied before the face of Pilate, when he judged he should be released. But you denied the Holy One and the Just, and desired a murderer to be granted unto you. But the author of life you killed, whom God hath raised from the dead, of which we are witnesses. And in the faith of his name, this man, whom you have seen and known, hath his name strengthened; and the faith which is by him, hath given this this perfect soundness in the sight of you all. And now, brethren, I know that you did it through ignorance, as did also your rulers. But those things which God before had shewed by the mouth of all the prophets, that his Christ should suffer, he hath so fulfilled. Be penitent, therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out. That when the times of refreshment shall come from the presence of the Lord, and he shall send him who hath been preached unto you, Jesus Christ, whom heaven indeed must receive, until the times of the restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of his holy prophets from the beginning of the world. But thou.

I Wednesday.

At Matins.

The Invitatory, Hymn, Antiphons, Psalms, VV [and] Responsories are sung as on the preceding Friday, &c. 1594.

First Lesson. Acts iv. (1.)

Nd as they were speaking to the people, the priests, and the officer of the temple, and the Sadducees, came upon them, being grieved that they taught the people, and preached in Jesus the resurrection from the dead: and they laid hands upon them, and put them in hold till the next day; for it was now evening. But many of them who had heard the word, believed; and the number of the men was made five thousand. And it came to pass on the morrow, that their princes, and ancients, and scribes, were gathered together in Jerusalem; and Annas the high priest, and Caiphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kindred of the high priest. And setting them in the midst, they asked: By what power, or by what name, have you done this? But thou.

Second Lesson. (Acts iv. 8.)

Then Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, said to them: Ye princes of the people, and ancients, hear: if we this day are examined concerning the good deed done to the infirm man, by what means he hath been made whole: be it known to you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God hath raised from the dead, even by him this man standeth here before you whole. This is the stone which was rejected by you the builders, which is become the head of the corner. Neither is there salvation in any other. For there is no other name under heaven given to men, whereby we must be saved. Now seeing the constancy of Peter and John, understanding that they were illiterate and ignorant men, they wondered; and they knew them that they had been with Jesus. Seeing the man also who had been healed standing with them, they could say nothing against it.
Weekdays within the Octave of the Ascension of the Lord.

Third Lesson. (Acts iv. 15.)

But they commanded them to go aside out of the council; and they conferred among themselves, saying: What shall we do to these men? for indeed a known miracle hath been done by them, to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem: it is manifest, and we cannot deny it. But that may be no farther spread among the people, let us threaten them that they speak no more in this name to any man. And calling them, they charged them not to speak at all, nor teach in the name of Jesus. But Peter and John answering, said to them: If it be just in the sight of God, to hear you rather than God, judge ye. For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. But they threatening, sent them away, not finding how they might punish them, because of the people: for all men glorified what had been done, in that which had come to pass. For the man was above forty years old, in whom that miraculous cure had been wrought. But thou, O Lord.

[A Homily of the Venerable Bede, Priest. (libri iij.)]⁹⁴

Seeing that today, most beloved brethren, we celebrate the coming of the Holy Ghost: we ought to accord with the solemnity that we honour. Indeed we only celebrate the joys of this festival in a worthy manner: if with God assisting we likewise render ourselves conformable to those to whom the Holy Ghost cometh, and in whom he deigneth to dwell. Moreover for this reason only are we proved to be adapted to the coming and illumination of the Holy Ghost: if both our hearts are filled with divine love, and <our> bodies are surrendered to divine commands. Hence also at the beginning of the reading of this Gospel, Truth saith to...

At that time. Jesus said unto his disiples, If you love me, keep my commandments. And I will ask the Father, and he shall give you another Paraclete, that he may abide with you for ever. And that which followeth.

A Homily of the Venerable Bede, Priest. (libri iij.)
his disciples, If you love me: keep my commandments. But thou.

R/. Let not your heart. 1567. Found in the Vigil of the Ascension of the Lord at Vespers. Nevertheless when the R/. It is time. 1614. is not sung on the preceding Sunday then it will be the first R/. on this day.

And it is to be noted: that if an Office with Rulers of the Choir should fall on the Sunday in the Octave of the Ascension: let all be made of the Feast: and then on the Vigil of Pentecost the first Responsory said is Tempus. and the other Responsories as indicated.

Second Lesson.

Reviously they also had a Paraclete, to be sure the Lord himself abiding with them in the flesh: by both the sweetness of whose miracles and the might of his preaching they were accustomed to be raised up and encouraged: so that they could not be scandalized at persecution by unbelievers. To be sure because after <his> resurrection, ascending into heaven he had forsaken them bodily, to whom the presence of <his> divine majesty was yet never absent: rightly he added concerning this Paraclete, that is the Holy Ghost, And I will ask the Father, and he shall give you another Paraclete, that he may abide with you for ever.

R/. I will ask the Father 1615. Found on the Sunday in the Octave of the Ascension of the Lord.

Third Lesson.

The Holy Ghost abideth eternally with the saints: which both in this life always invisibly he inwardly illumineth, and in the future introduceth to the eternal contemplation of the sight of his majesty. But we also, dearly beloved brethren, if we love Christ perfectly, such that we prove the truth of the same love in obaserving his commandments: he will indeed ask the Father for us, and the Father will give to us another Paraclete. He will ask the Father by his humanity: who will give with the Father through <his> divinity. Nor indeed should it be supposed that only before his passion did he ask for the Church, and that now after the ascension he doth not also ask: seeing that the Apostle saith concerning him, Who is at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us.
